

BRITISH CASUALTIES

46th (North Midland) Division Casualties Resulting from the Hohenzollern Redoubt Action in October 1915

	Killed or Died of Wounds	Percentage with No Known Grave	Wounded or P.O.W.	Total
137th Brigade
5th South Staffordshire	103	96	216	319
6th South Staffordshire	122	98	285	407
5th North Staffordshire	232	88	273	505
6th North Staffordshire	98	88	217	315
138th Brigade
4th Lincolnshire	169	90	228	397
5th Lincolnshire	188	97	295	483
4th Leicestershire	211	97	262	473
5th Leicestershire	42	82	145	187
139th Brigade
5th Notts and Derbys	8	88	41	49
6th Notts and Derbys	12	100	48	60
7th Notts and Derbys	44	90	107	151
8th Notts and Derbys	48	93	122	170
1st Monmouthshire	31	86	129	160

Total Infantry Casualties:

Killed or Died of Wounds
74 Officers and 1234 Other Ranks,
a total of 1308.

Of the dead infantry only 91 men have identified graves in 14 different cemeteries.

The overall proportion of the dead with no known grave is 93 per cent.

There were 2,368 non-fatal infantry casualties. Most were wounded but a small, unknown number, became Prisoners of War.

The Artillery, Engineers and other divisional units suffered 87 casualties.

Total 46th (North Midland) Division Casualties: 3,763